1. HEARING: You must appear for the hearing scheduled, either in person or by attorney or other authorized representative (who need not be an attorney). The hearing is your opportunity to answer and defend the allegations made in the summons. You should come fully prepared for the hearing. You have the right to bring witnesses and other evidence, including evidence of actions taken to correct any condition charged. If you fail to appear for a scheduled hearing, a default order will be issued and you may be required to pay penalties up to the maximum amount permitted by law.
2. SETTLEMENT BY STIPULATION: Certain violations can be resolved by mail through a stipulation. Settlement by stipulation does not require your attending a hearing. See page 2 to determine if you are being offered a chance to settle by stipulation. If you wish to accept the terms offered, complete the stipulation on page 2, and return it to the OATH Hearings Division. The executed stipulation, with payment, must be returned to the OATH Hearings Division before the hearing date. If you do not accept and return the stipulation before the hearing date you must attend the scheduled hearing or, a default order will be issued and you may be required to pay penalties up to the maximum amount permitted by law. If you are not offered a stipulation, you must appear for the hearing.
3. REMEDIAL ACTION: Because severe penalties can be imposed for the continuation of the violation, you should immediately correct all conditions that led to the summons. Correcting conditions after a summons has been issued may be considered in mitigating the amount of the penalty, but it does not eliminate any violation that existed on the date charged.
